Otis wakes up. It's dark outside.

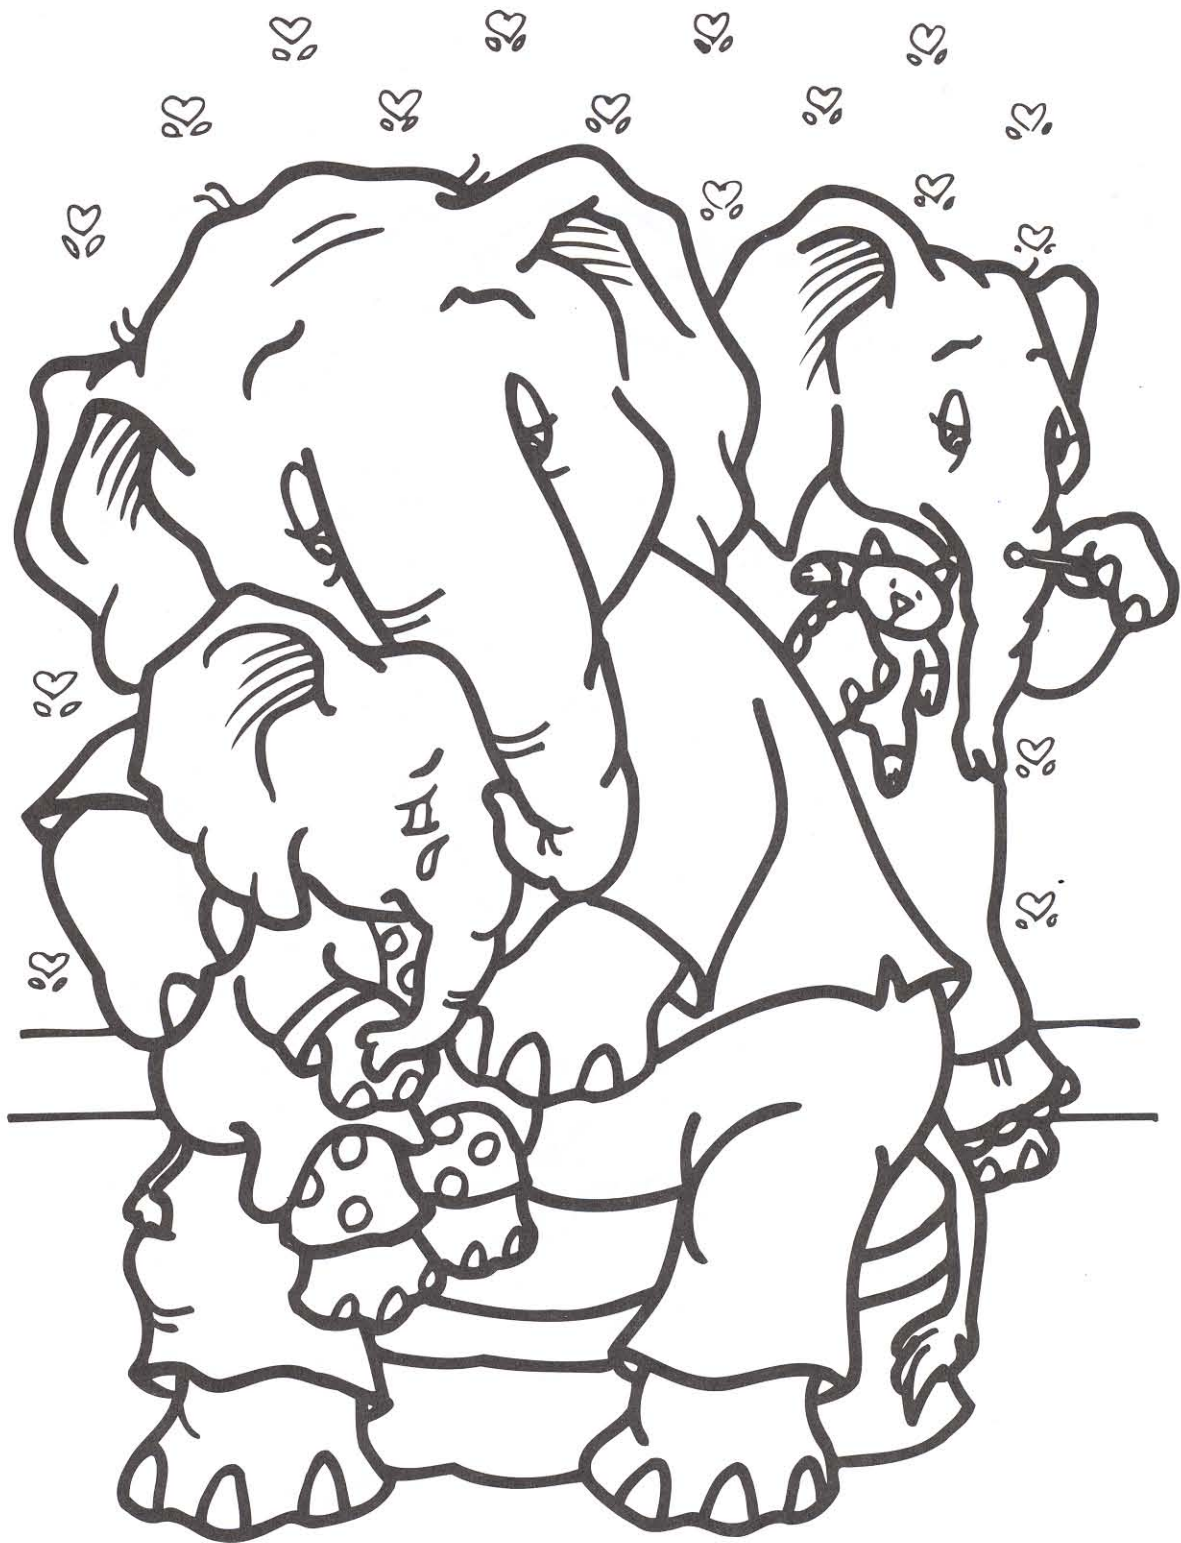

Otis is hot.

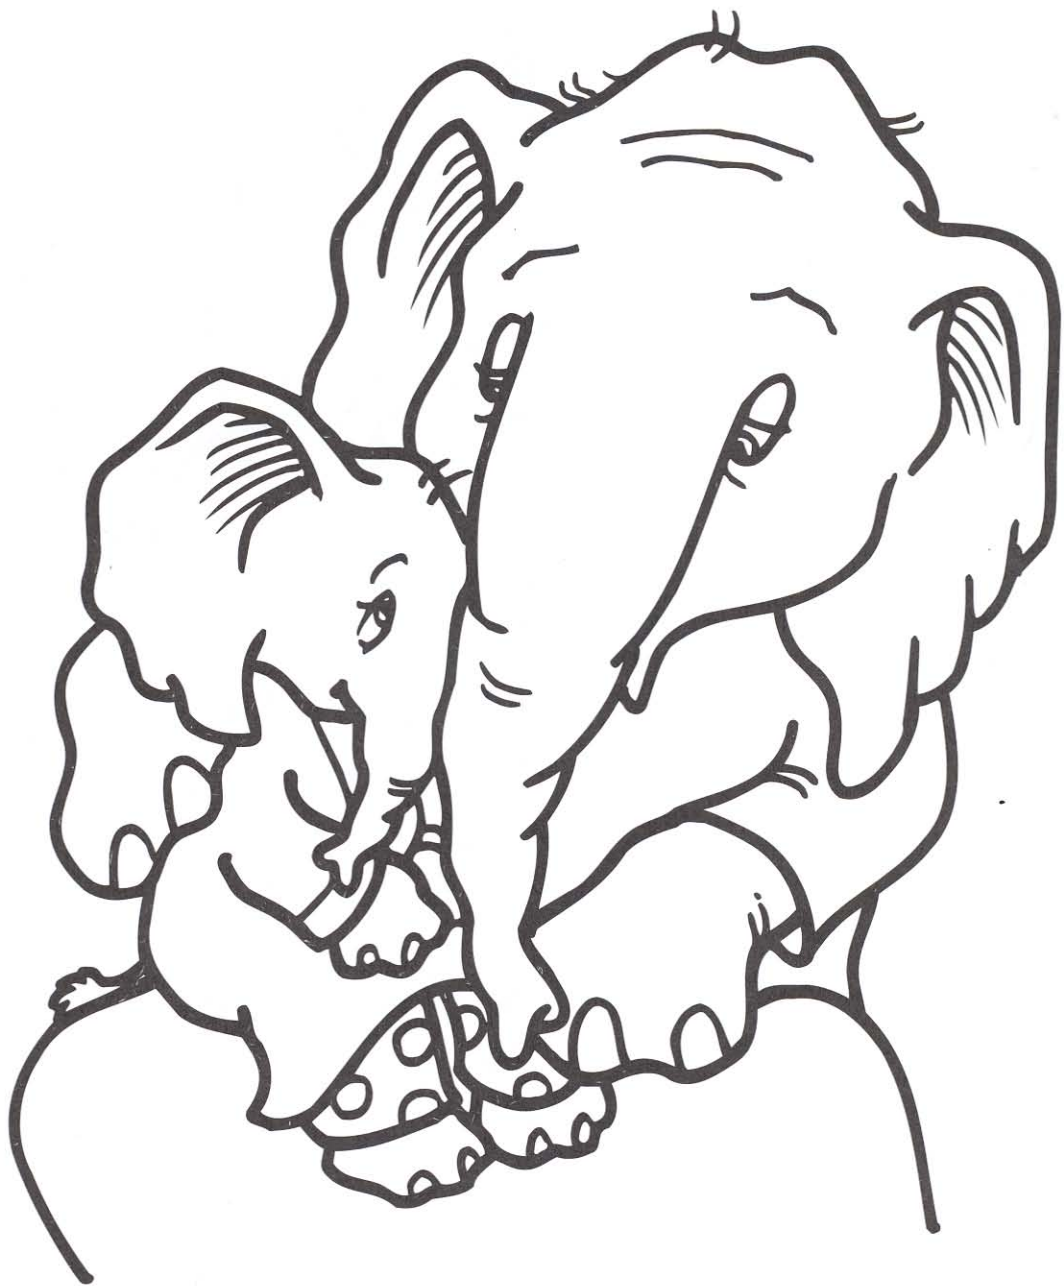

Otis shouts, "Owwwww! My ear hurts."

Otis says, "Mommy my ear feels funny."

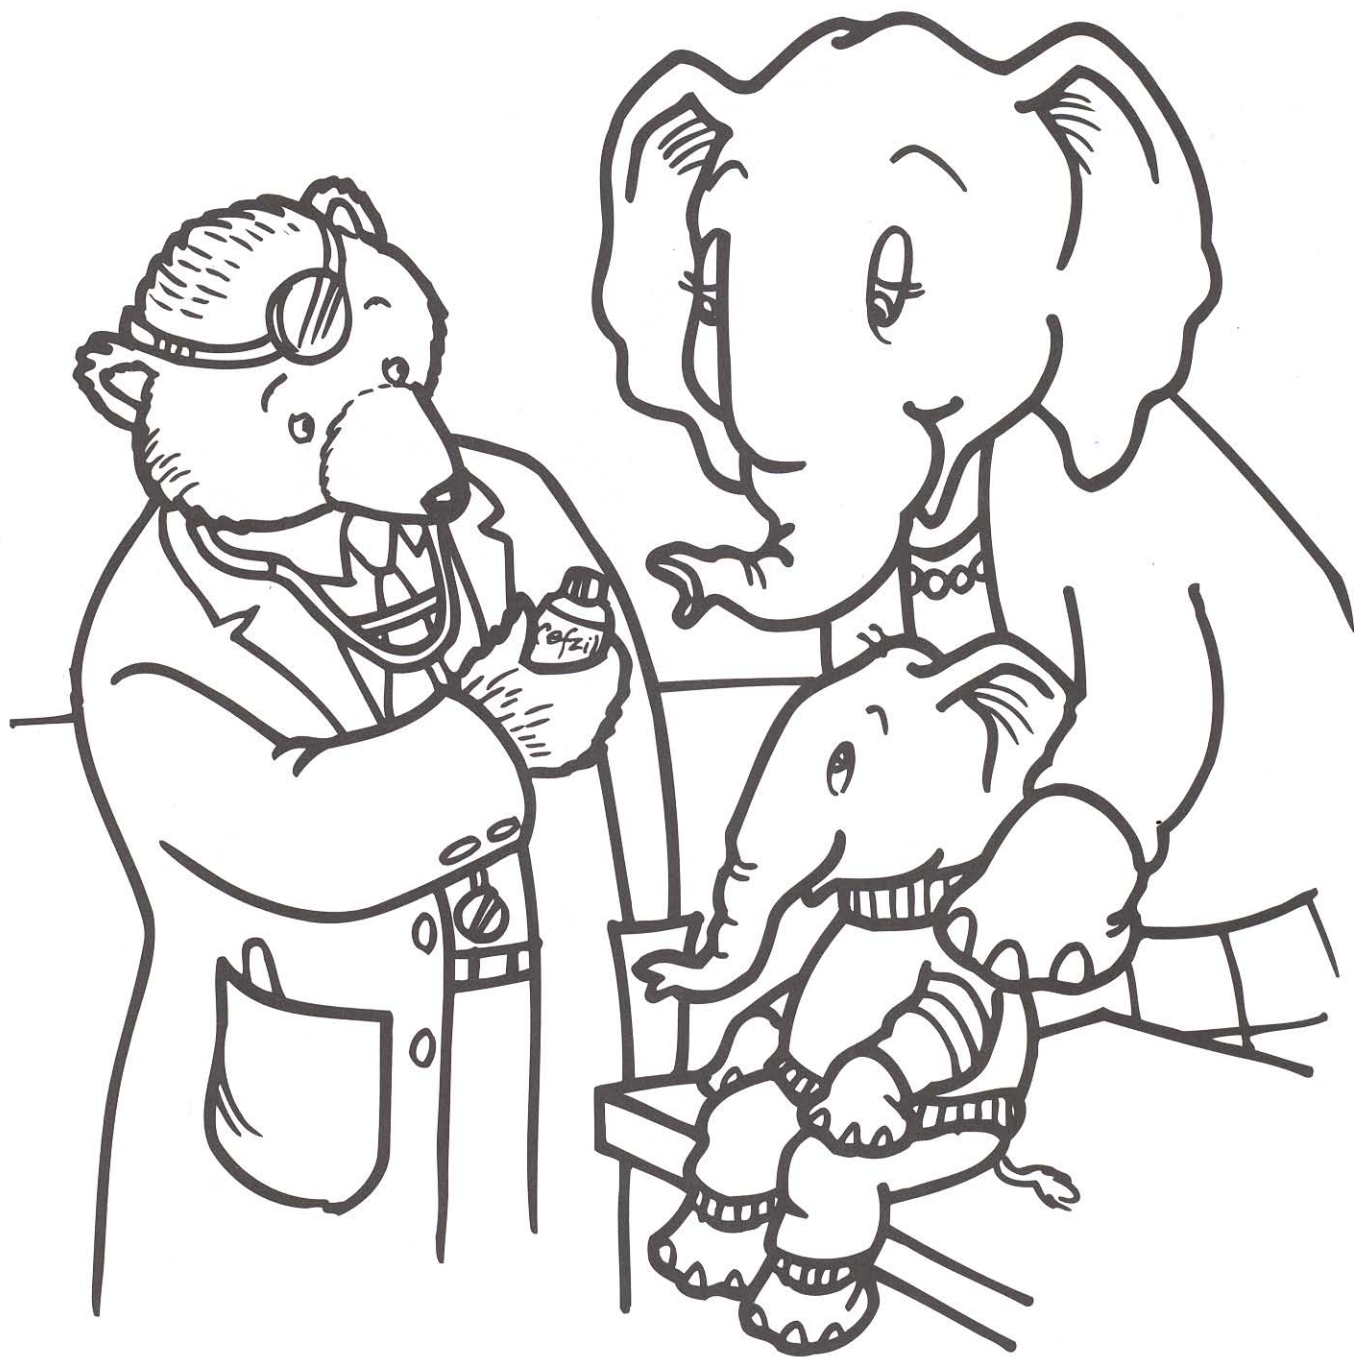

Otis cries, "Sniffle, snuffle, sniffle, snuffle."

His Dad says, "Don't worry, Otis, today you will see Dr. Green."

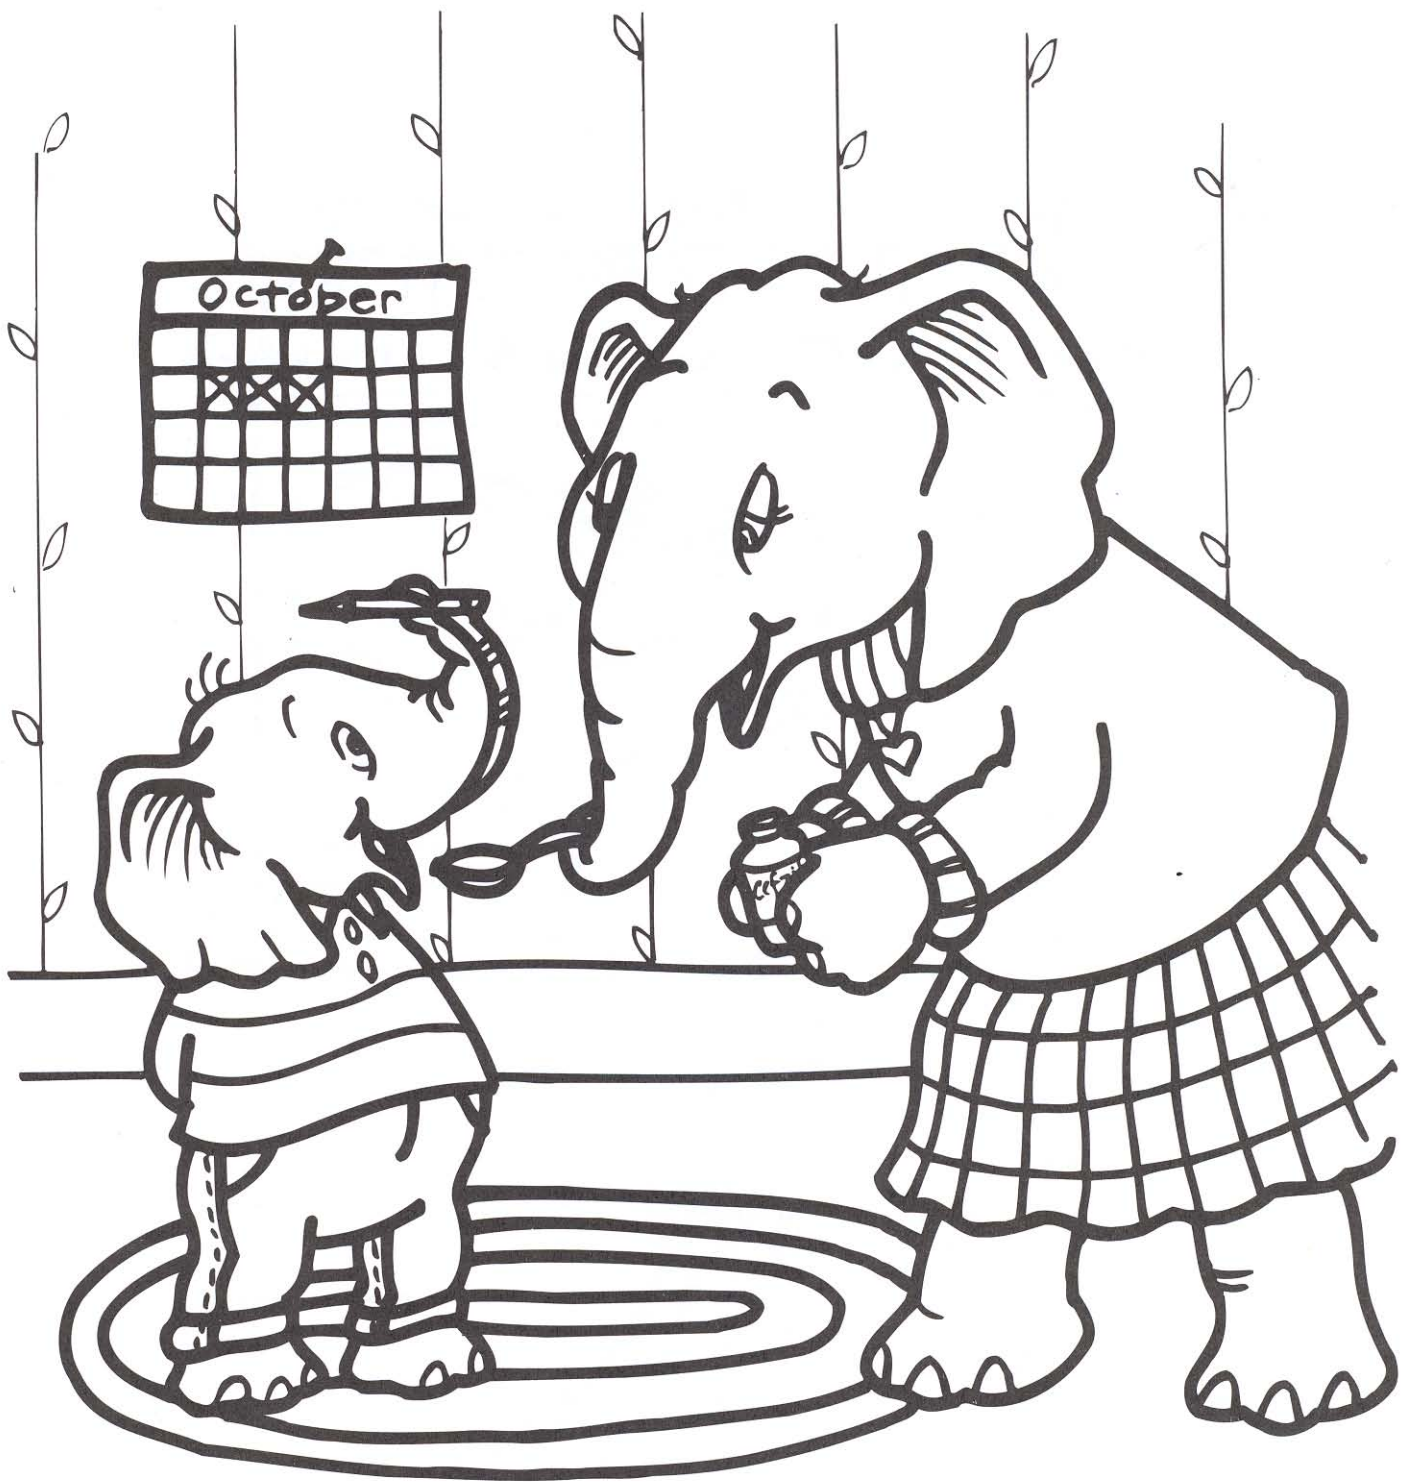

Dr. Green says, "Hmm. Hmm. Uh-huh."

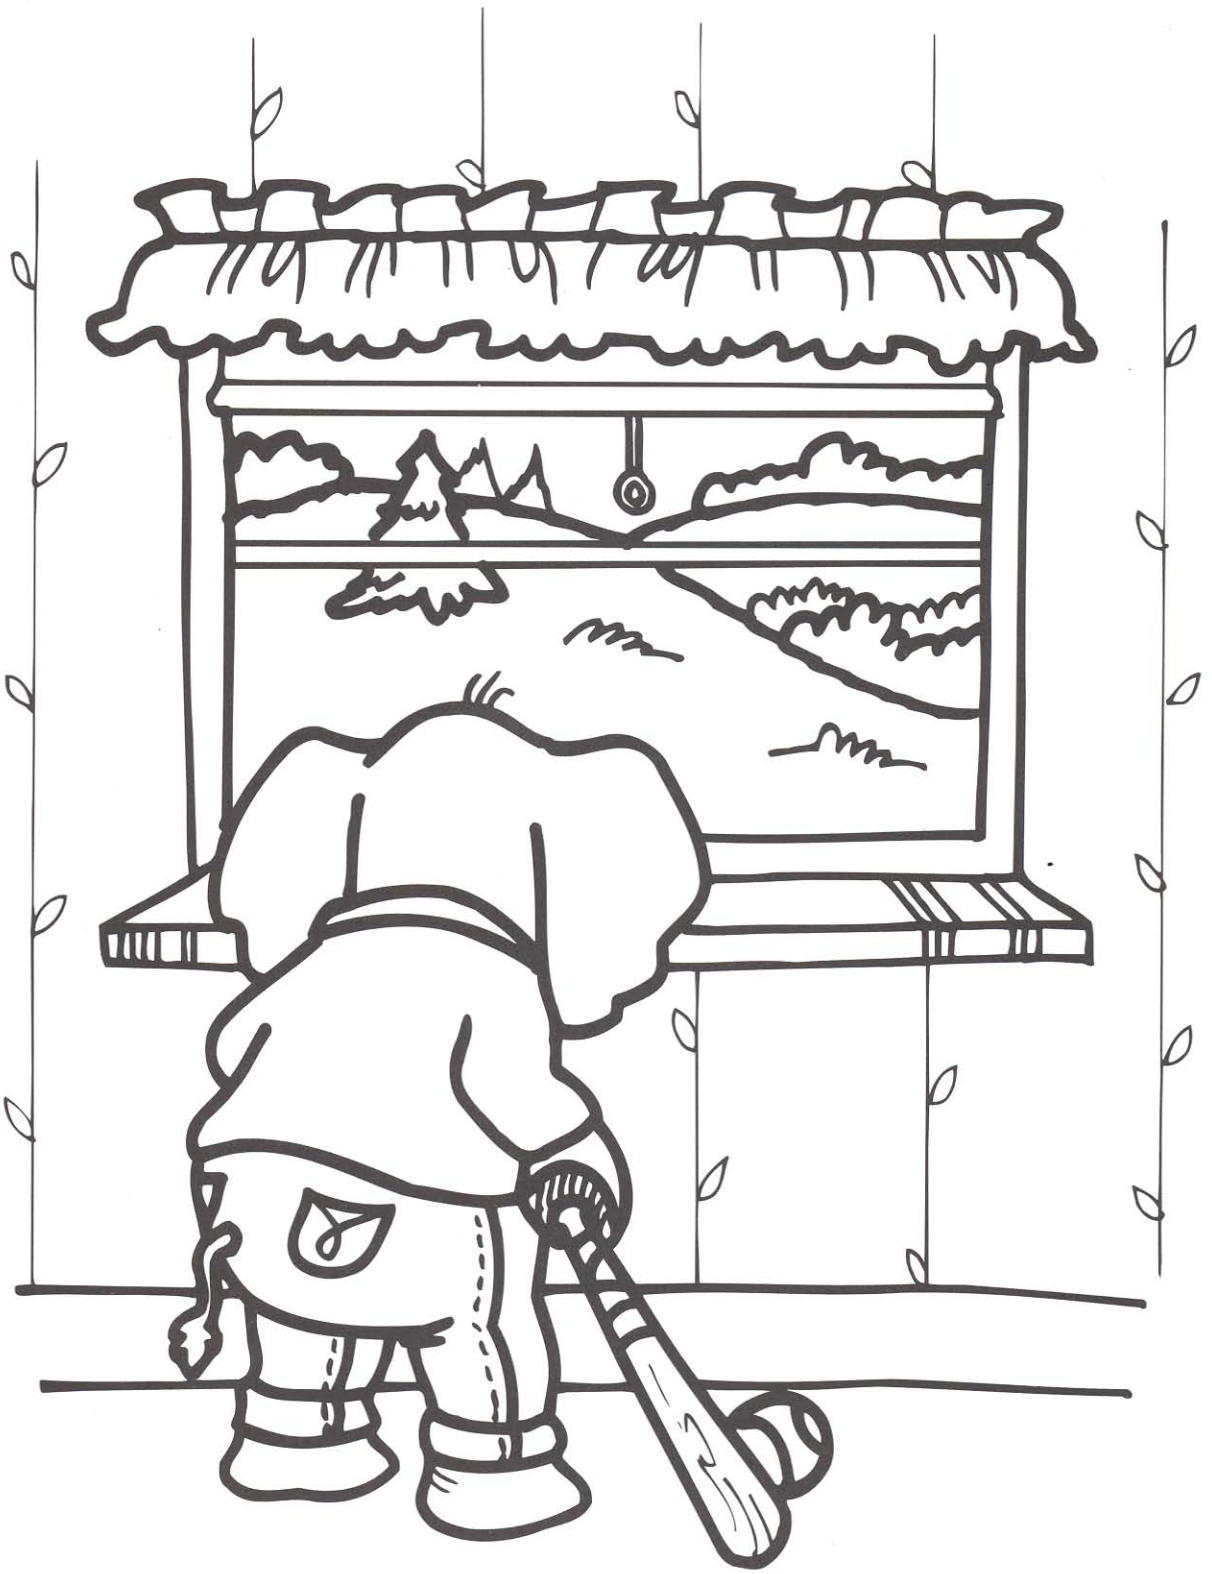

Dr. Green says, "I'm going to give you some medicine for your earache, Otis."

Dr. Green says, "If you take all your medicine, Otis, your ear will feel better."

His Mom says, "Good, Otis."

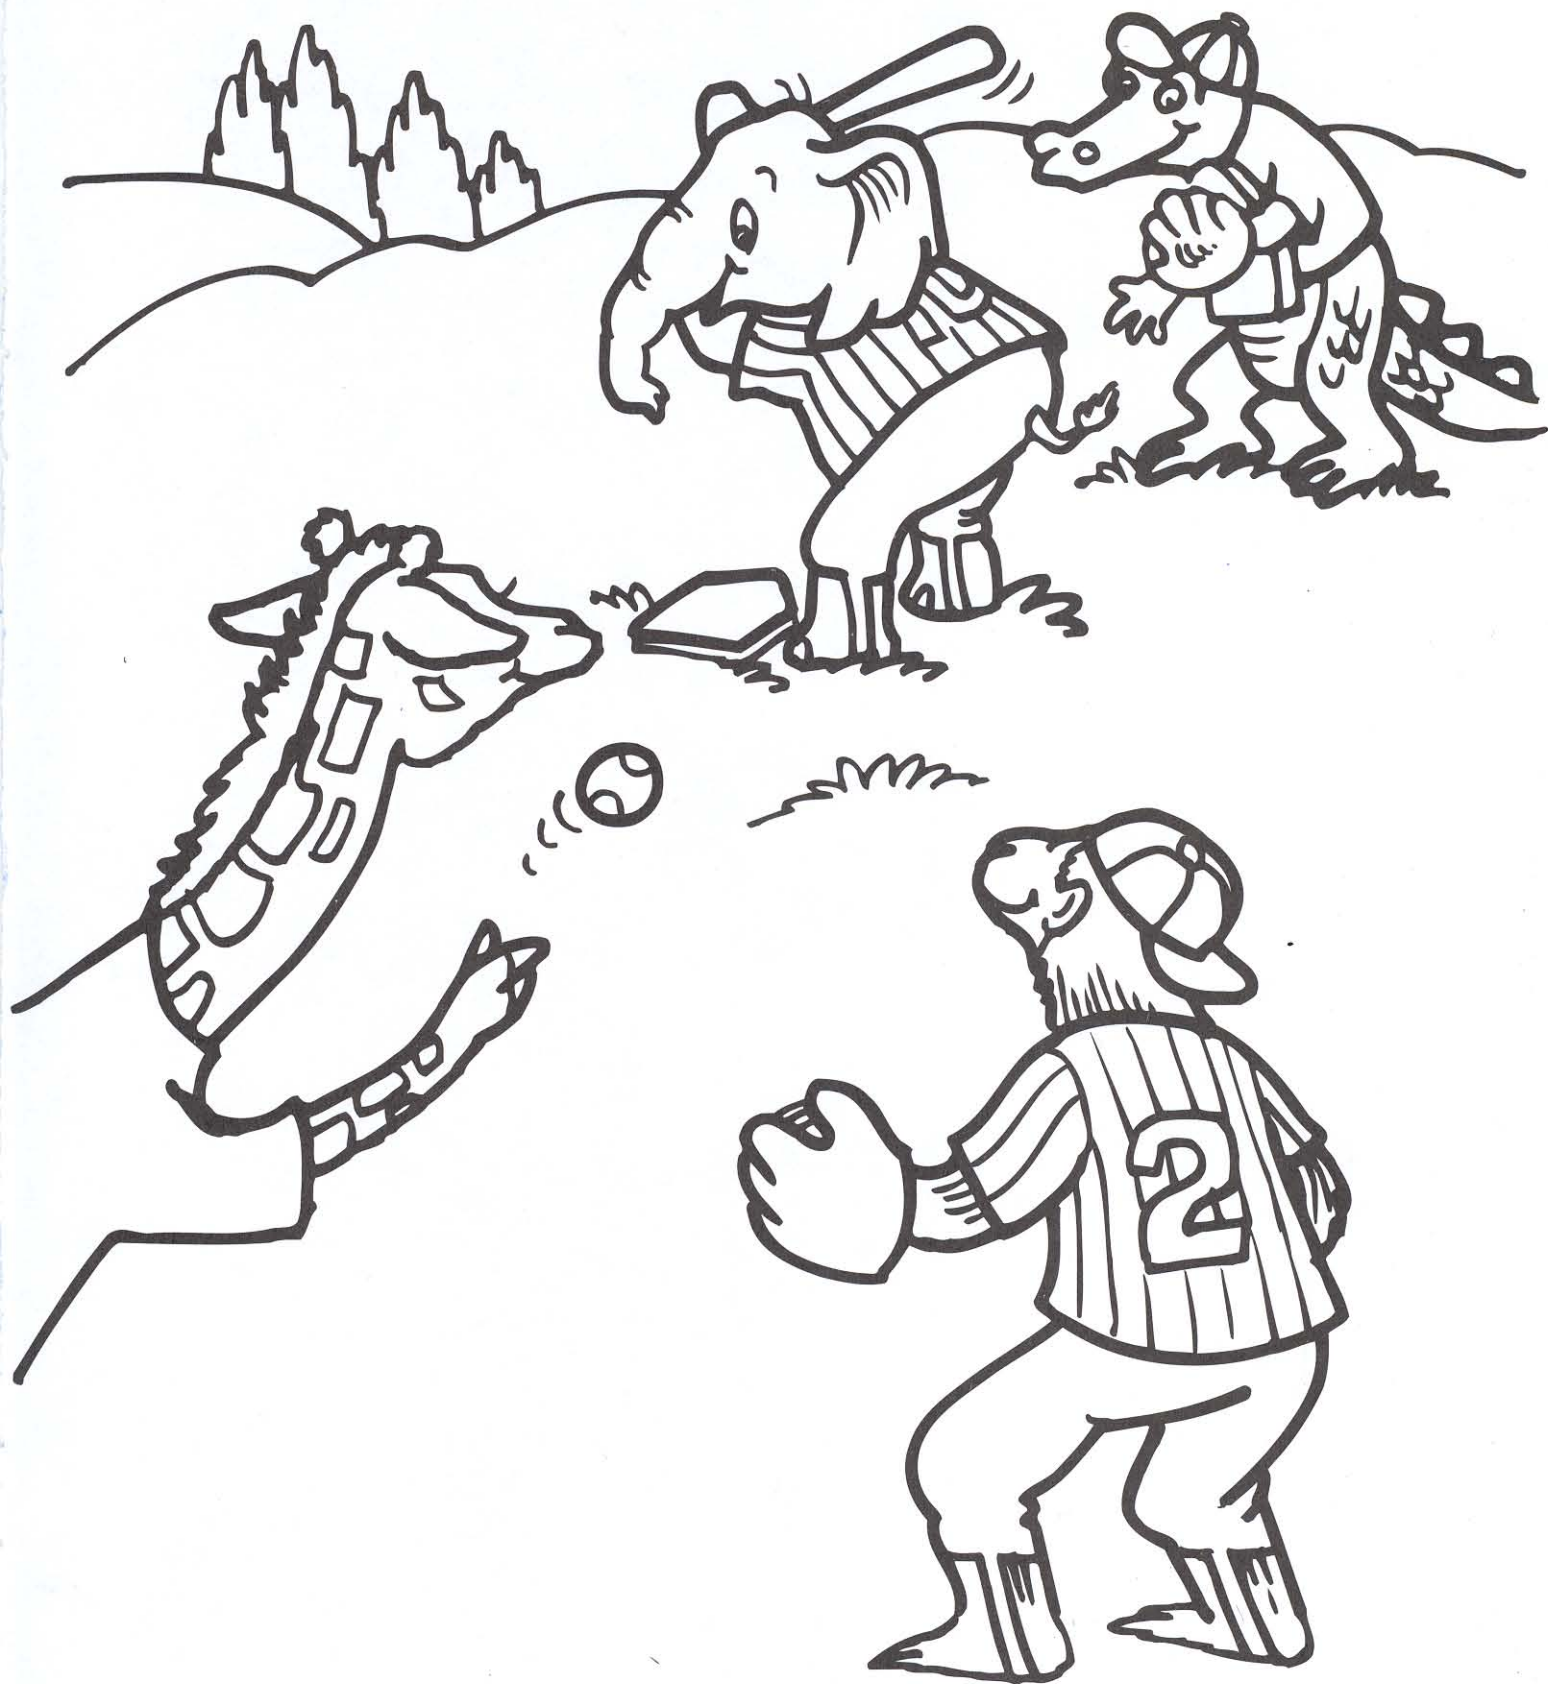

“I feel better today, Mommy. May I play outside?”

Dr. Green says, "Otis, you're all better. You can play outside with your friends."

Otis says, “Yippee! Thank you, Dr. Green.”

Otis is happy again.
